Social and Community Housing Insurance

Social and community housing is essential in New Zealand, providing secure, affordable homes for people who might otherwise struggle to access the private market. Managed by government agencies, iwi organisations and community providers, these homes are vital for stability, wellbeing and inclusion.

But the sector faces unique risks: higher tenant support needs, properties in disaster-prone areas and greater social challenges. Standard insurance often falls short.

Otta provides protection built for these realities. Our focus is on protecting housing providers and the communities they serve, so when the unexpected happens, people remain safe, housed and supported.

Specialist cover recognising the multi-party relationship of owner, community housing provider and tenant
